

Proposed "full" Advertisement: use on college/department web site, flyers, and mailed letters

Audiology Clinical Faculty

Position: Twelve-month non-tenure track audiology clinical faculty position at the Assistant Clinical Professor rank.

Qualifications: Minimum qualifications include: An earned Doctor of Audiology degree (AuD), CCC-A, 3-5 years of clinical experience, ability to supervise cases across all types of auditory disorders and with children and adults. Clinical supervision experience desired.

Responsibilities: Responsibilities include supervision of graduate and undergraduate students in clinical practice in on-and off-campus sites including direct supervision of student interactions and evaluation of student performance. Some class room teaching a possibility. The candidate is also expected to participate in departmental committee structure and engage in clinically related professional activities such as innovative clinical program development, scholarly collaboration with other faculty, and participation in professional activities representing the department at regional and national levels. The university has a clinical career ladder for faculty who engage in clinical instruction. The clinical career ladder includes a structure for promotion as the faculty member exhibits professional productivity and develops a regional/national reputation in the clinical field.

Starting Date: May 1, 2010, or soon thereafter

General Information: The main campus of Auburn University is located in Auburn, AL. Situated in the east-central portion of the state, where the Piedmont joins the Coastal Plain, this region experiences mild winters and otherwise moderate temperatures. University enrollment approximately 24,000 students and the Auburn and Opelika metropolitan area has more than 120,000 residents. The university is located 35 minutes from Columbus, GA; 50 minutes from Montgomery, AL and 90 minutes from Atlanta, GA and Birmingham, AL. Auburn is less than 4 hours from Florida's Gulf Coast, which offers some of the most beautiful beaches in the country. The department is housed in the College of Liberal Arts and has approximately 110 undergraduate students, 40 masters students in SLP and 35 AuD students. Presently, the department has 15 full time faculty (12 doctoral level and 3 masters level). The Department of Communication Disorders has been accredited in both Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology for over 40 years and is a nationally respected training program.

Application: Review of applications will begin March 1, 2010 and continue until the position is filled.

Minorities and Women are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate must meet eligibility requirements to work in the U.S. at the time the appointment is scheduled to begin and continue working legally for the proposed term of employment. The candidate must be able to communicate effectively in English. Submit letter of application, curriculum vita, transcripts and three letters of recommendation to:

Sandra Clark-Lewis
Chair, Search Committee
Department of Communication Disorders
1199 Haley Center, Auburn University, AL 36849-5232

Affirmative Action Employer/Equal Opportunity Employer